If the words were not so widely used in the movie industry, perhaps this show would have been entitled, "The End." It is about the end...of a very short career, of a single human life, of a threat to what little self-government Israel enjoyed under Roman occupation.

But this end was the beginning of something new. In it the forces of darkness were conquered; in it the last and greatest obstacle between God and his rebellious creatures was removed. When from the cross Christ cried out, "It is finished!" (in Greek: Tetelestai) it means the beginning of real life for men who will accept it.

The scene is Israel's holy city, Jerusalem; feverish with activity as the Passover nears...gripped by profound uneasiness, as devout Jews crowding in for the festival bring strange and ominous news.

The Romans are brutish masters...Jewish resistance is becoming more frequent and open. Now from the provinces, word has come of a man whose claims capture the imagination of the people: Jesus of Nazareth...teacher, healer, prophet, and...it is said... Messiah, the long-awaited Savior of God's people.

The stage is set for the most important week in the history of the world. We are glad you can be here.
